POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Representative Lekanoff: "You know today is a very special day in Washington state history. Today a man was born who rose above and said "What can we better do together? How do we protect the most precious precious resource that makes up the bloodlines of who he is as a Cosalish man? How do we protect the salmon, and how do we protect all who have called this place home?" Today I ask all of you to join with me in saying happy birthday to Billy Frank, Jr.. Happy birthday to Billy Frank, Jr.. Thank you for honoring the people of Washington State. Thank you for opening your arms up and reminding us all that we are all one people who call this place home. I'd like to share a quote of Billy's. These are some wonderful words that have grown me as I've mentored under Billy for almost twenty years. He says, I quote, "I don't believe in magic I believe in the sun, in the stars, the water, the tides, the floods, the Owls, the Hawks flying the river running, the wind talking. These are measurements. They tell us how healthy things are, how healthy we are, because we and they are the same. That is what I believe in." I've had the privilege of being mentored under Billy Frank Jr for many years. He has built my generation, the generation ahead of me, and the generation below me to understand what can we better do together here. Here in the people's house, here in the homes that we live in and the places we call home. He is a seventh generation decision maker and with that, it is a privilege and an honor to share his wonderful day with all of you and thank you Madam Speaker for giving me the time on the floor."

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Representative Wilcox: "Madam Speaker there's many things that I'm proud of when I realize that I represent the Second District, but one of the things that I'm most proud of is perhaps the most famous resident of Washington worldwide grew up in the Second District; lived a long life in the Second District; is honored in many places in many ways in the Second District and of course that's Billy Frank whose birthday it is today. One of the things that I've never forgotten about politics was a moment when I was first running, about ten years ago, my dad said if you're going to do this J.T., I want to have you come and talk to my friend Billy Frank. And so Dad arranged an appointment, and it wasn't my first visit with Billy, because of my dad's friendship I've known him for a long time, but we met in the little town of Yelm, along with Billy's longtime associate George Walters and visited for quite some time, and there's a, it's not exactly a story I guess, it was just a little piece of philosophy that Billy shared with me that I've shared with a lot of individuals here before. He was thinking about the struggles in his life and the fact that he'd had these amazing intersections with government and high government officials - a many decades perspective on how to accomplish things in the United States. And he started out by saying J.T. just think about this: We," he's talking about he and his allies, that work so hard on treaty fishing rights, "we're fourteen and zero at the U.S. Supreme Court." I might be wrong about that number but that's what sticks in my head "we're fourteen and zero in the U.S. Supreme Court. When we really feel strongly about something we can go to the state legislature and we can most often pass the bill that we want and just about every single time the Governor will sign that bill. So in the political world we've done very well, but I care about things that last, and the only way that you can have a victory that lasts is when you come together with the people that have opposed you and reach a mutual understanding with them. All the other things are transitory but changing people's hearts and minds and coming together you know in the most, and I'm elaborating a little bit here and some of you know that I'm leaving some of his colorful expressions out, the most fundamental and lasting way to make a change in the world is to reach emotional and intellectual agreement across both sides of the argument. And I was alluding a little bit to that yesterday in a speech as well, and I also appreciate the very gentle lady who preceded me because she exemplifies this more than anyone I've ever met in this building. Thank you."

There being no objection, the House advanced to the sixth order of business.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Kraft requested a scope and object ruling for Second Substitute House Bill No. 1105 by the Committee on Appropriations."

SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding): "The title of the bill is an act relating to "protecting taxpayers from home foreclosure".

The bill as introduced addresses the collection of property taxes by counties and makes changes to the content of property tax statements, payment due dates, payment option plans, delinquent tax payments and the tax foreclosure process. The bill also establishes two accounts, funded by proceeds of tax foreclosure sales, to provide counseling services to homeowners at risk of foreclosure.

The second substitute bill addresses these same topics. It makes changes to the content of property tax statements, payment due dates, payment option plans, delinquent tax payments and the tax foreclosure process. It establishes one account, funded by a 50-cent fee on each billable real property account, to provide counseling services, rescue loans and legal assistance to homeowners at risk of foreclosure. A change in the type of services provided to homeowners at risk of foreclosure and a change in the source of funding for those services are perfecting amendments well within the confines of the bill as introduced. The Speaker therefore finds and rules that the second substitute bill does not exceed the scope and object of the original bill. The point of order is not well taken."

The second substitute was adopted.

With the consent of the House, amendment (191) was withdrawn.

(b) An additional penalty of eight percent is assessed on the delinquent tax amount on December 1st of the year in which the tax is due.

(c) If a taxpayer is successfully participating in a payment agreement under subsection (12) (b) of this section or a partial payment program pursuant to subsection (13) of this section, the county treasurer may not assess additional penalties on delinquent taxes that are included within the payment agreement.
