

Are your Independent Contractors really employees?

Service performed for compensation by an individual in the electrical or construction industries is employment unless it is shown that:

1. The individual is free from direction and control over the performance of the service; and
2. The service is either performed:
 - Outside of the usual course of business for which the service is performed, or
 - Outside of all the places of business of the enterprise for which the service is performed; or
 - The individual has a principal place of business and is responsible for the costs; and
3. The individual:
 - Is customarily engaged in an independently established trade, occupation, profession, or business of the same nature as that involved in the service contract, or
 - Has a principal place of business that is eligible for a federal income tax business deduction; and
4. On the effective date of the contract of service, the individual is responsible for filing a schedule of expenses with the Internal Revenue Service; and
5. On the effective date of the contract or within a reasonable period after the effective date of the contract, the individual has an:
 - Active account with the Department of Revenue,
 - Active account with any other state agencies, and
 - A Unified Business Identifier (UBI) number; and
6. On the effective date of contract of service, the individual is maintaining a separate set of books or records that reflect all items of income and expenses of the business that the individual is conducting; and
7. On the effective date of the contract, the individual has a valid contractor registration under chapter 18.27 RCW or an electrical contractor license under chapter 19.28 RCW if the work requires a registration or license.

RCW 50.04.145 amended effective June 12, 2008
