Art. 2, Sec. 1. Legislative Powers, Where Vested—The legislative authority of the State of Washington shall be vested in the legislature, consisting of a senate and house of representatives, which shall be called the legislature of the state of Washington, but the people reserve to themselves the power to propose bills, laws, and to enact or reject the same at the polls, independent of the legislature, and also reserve power, at their own option, to approve or reject at the polls any act, item, section or part of any bill, act or law passed by the legislature.

(a) Initiative. The first power reserved by the people is the initiative. Ten per centum, but in no case more than fifty thousand, of the legal voters shall be required to propose any measure by such petition, and every such petition shall include the full text of the measure as proposed. Initiative petitions shall be filed with the secretary of state not less than four months before the election at which they are to be voted upon, or not less than ten days before any regular session of the legislature. If filed at least four months before the election at which they are to be voted upon, he shall submit the same to the vote of the people at the said election. If it is rejected or if no action is taken upon it by the legislature before the end of such regular session, the secretary of state shall submit it to the people for approval or rejection at the next ensuing regular general election. The legislature may reject any measure so proposed by initiative petition and propose a different one dealing with the same subject, and in such event both measures shall be submitted by the secretary of state to the people for approval or rejection at the next ensuing regular general election. When conflicting measures are submitted to the people the ballots shall be so printed that a voter can express separately by making one cross (X) for each, two preferences, first, as between either measure and neither, and secondly, as between one and the other. If the majority of those voting on the first issue is for neither, both fail, but in that case the votes on the second issue shall nevertheless be carefully counted and made public. If a majority voting on the first issue is for either, then the measure receiving a majority of the votes on the second issue shall be law.

(b) Referendum. The second power reserved by the people is the referendum, and it may be ordered on any act, bill, law, or any part thereof passed by the legislature, except such laws as may be necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety, support of the state government and its existing public institutions, either by petition signed by the required percentage of the legal voters, or by the legislature as other bills are enacted. But such enactment may be amended or repealed at any general regular or special election by direct vote of the people thereon.

The filing of a referendum petition against one or more items, sections or parts of any act, law or bill shall not delay the remainder of the measure from becoming operative. Referendum petitions against measures passed by the legislature shall be filed with the secretary of state not later than ninety days after the final adjournment of session of the legislature which passed which the referendum is demanded. The veto power of the governor shall not extend to measures initiated by or referred to the people. All elections on measures referred to the people of the state shall be had at the biennial regular elections, except when the legislature shall order a special election. Any measure initiated by the people or referred to the people as herein provided shall take effect and become the law if it is approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon: Provided, that the vote cast upon such question or measure shall equal one-third of the total votes at such election and not otherwise. cast measure shall be in operation on and after the thirtieth day after the election at which it is approved. The style of all bills proposed by initiative petition shall be: "Be it enacted by the people of the State of Washington." This section shall not be construed to deprive any member of the legislature of the right to introduce any measure. The whole number of electors who voted for governor at the regular gubernatorial election last preceding the filing of any petition for the initia-tive or for the referendum shall be the basis on which the number of legal voters necessary to sign such petition shall be counted. All such petitions shall be filed with the secretary of state, who shall be guided by the general laws in submitting the same to the people until additional legislation shall especially provide therefor. This section is self-executing, but legislation may be enacted especially to facilitate its operation.

The legislature shall provide methods of publicity of all laws or parts of laws, and amendments to the constitution referred to the people with arguments for and against the laws and amendments so referred, so that each voter of the state shall receive the publication at least fifty days before the election at which they are to be voted upon.

THIRTIETH LEGISLATIVE SESSION

Suggestions as to Form of Legislation

AND

Joint Rules of the Senate and House of Representatives

Compiled by

A. J. SHARKEY, Secretary of the Senate. Chief Clerk of the House.

S. R. Holcomb,

Suggestions as to Form of Legislation

- 1. Preambles should be stricken from bills before enactment.
- 2. The title of an act need not be an index of the provisions therein, but should be phrased in general language sufficiently comprehensive to indicate the scope of the act.
- 3. Laws cannot be amended by adding thereto or striking therefrom certain words, or by amending a subdivision of a section. The full section amended must be set forth at length.
 Any matter omitted in the existing statutes should be indicated by four stars or asterisks and all new matter should be underlined. A whole new section or sections added to an existing statute need not be underlined. (Joint Rule 19.)
- 4. Whenever practicable, bills relating to subjects covered by existing laws should be prepared in the form of amendments to such laws and must in all cases when amendatory of existing law, refer to the section or sections of the session laws which are to be amended. They should also, for convenience, refer to one of the officially recognized compilations of the statutes, either Remington's Revised Statutes or Pierce's Code, or both. (Joint Rule 18.)
- 5. Amendments of acts found in the session laws should designate such laws by section and chapter number rather than by quotation of the title of the act amended, and reference to the date of its approval.
- 6. As a general rule it will be found practicable to first state the subject matter of amendatory act, following such statement by a reference to the law amended, for illustration:

"An Act Relating to articles of incorporation of a corporation not formed for profit, and amending section 8, chapter 134, Laws of 1907 (section 3895, Remington's Revised Statutes; section 4705, Pierce's Code).

"Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Washington:

"Section 1. Section 8, chapter 134, Laws of 1907 (section 3895, Remington's Revised Statutes; section 4705, Pierce's Code), is amended to read as follows:

"Section 8."

- 7. Bills amending more than one section of existing laws should contain a separate section for each section amended.
- 8. The form of amendatory language in each section of the bill itself should be, for illustration, as follows: "Section, chapter, Laws of, (section, Remington's Revised Statutes) is amended to read as follows: Section." Bills adding one section or more to an existing statute should contain a separate section in the bill for each new section added. (Joint Rule 18.)
- 9. Acts which are not amendatory of existing laws should be divided into short sections where this can be done without destroying the sense of any particular section to the end that future amendments may be made without the necessity of setting forth and repeating sections of unnecessary length.
- 10. Laws defining crimes should not fix the duration of the imprisonment or the amount of fine, but should make the commission of such crime a misdemeanor, gross misdemeanor or felony, as the case may be, leaving the punishment to be fixed by the court under the provisions of the Criminal Code.

- 11. Bills carrying an appropriation should designate the particular fund from which money appropriated is to be paid. It is unnecessary to prescribe in detail the manner of paying funds from the state treasury. This matter is covered by existing law.
- 12. All laws will take effect ninety days after the adjournment of the legislature unless other provision is made in the act. The amendment to the constitution adopted in 1912 provides that "such laws as may be necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety, support of the state government and its existing public institutions" shall not be subject to the referendum. Laws designed to take effect before ninety days after the adjournment of the legislature must contain a declaration substantially in one of the following forms: "This act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety and shall take effect immediately." "This act is necessary for the immediate support of the state government and of the existing public institutions of the state and shall take effect immediately." A combination of these forms may be used, or where the act is intended to take effect upon a definite date within ninety days after the adjournment of the legislature, a designated day may be inserted in lieu of the word "immediately."
- 13. All bills, resolutions or memorials to be introduced are required to be submitted to the secretary of the senate or chief clerk of the house in quintuplet (original and four copies), written on legal size $(8\frac{1}{2} \times 13)$ numbered paper.
